School Policy Regarding Scores Below 65 on NYS Regents Examinations

Crescent School permits taking Regents Examinations more than once if the student should fail the exam after the first attempt.

At our school FAILURE is defined as any score below 65.

If a student should fail an exam then the student is required by the State Department of Education to take the exam until he/she earns a passing grade.

Students are not permitted by the State to graduate high school unless all Regents criteria is met.
